As we continue our study of the life of David on Sunday's at 5pm, I thought I'd share with you this article written by Neal Pollard

Learning To Pray From A Man After God's Own Heart

When the disciples asked Jesus to teach them to pray (Luke 11:1), they were asking the most qualified instructor. However, they had a good teacher from the background of their own heritage in David. The book of Psalms is at times a songbook and at other times a prayer journal. Numerous examples of David's prayers are contained in this beautiful book of Old Testament poetry. In Psalm 141, for example, we have several characteristics of prayer from a man after God's own heart (cf. Acts 13:22).

First, David's prayer was urgent (Psalm 141:1). He writes, "Lord, I cry out to You; make haste to me!" David saw prayer, not as a last resort, but as a first retreat. Since David knew God was able to help, he wasted no time in bringing matters into God's own hands.

Then, David's prayer was intense (Psalm 141:1b). He continues, "Give ear to my voice when I cry out to You." You will not hear rote memorization of prayers or lackadaisical lethargy in David's prayer. David cried out to God. He is pleading with God. These are indicators of a fervent prayer life, which God includes as typical of righteous people of prayer (James 5:16).

Further, David's prayer was sincere (Psalm 141:2). He treated his prayers as if they were actually offerings or sacrifices. He says, "Let my prayers be set before You as incense, the lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice." He was willing to lay open his prayers to the All-Seeing eye for His scrutiny. The entirety of this psalm reflects no superficial piety or pretentiousness. David simply laid his heart before God.

David put obvious trust and hope in the power of prayer. He had confidence in God's ability and he had cognizance of his own dependence upon God's ability. Never wait to turn to prayer until the need is desperate. The man after God's own heart made prayer a staple in his religious diet. So should we.

Barrier's Blog

In Matthew 19 is the story of a rich young man. This young man comes to Jesus and asks Him what to do to be able to go to Heaven. After initially explaining some things that the young man says he has always done, he asks Jesus if there is still anything he lacks. In Matthew 19:21-22 Jesus responds and so does the young man... Jesus said to him, "If you want to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me." But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

The young man had lots of "stuff" but wasn't willing to give any of it up to have a life with Jesus. It wasn't the stuff that was the problem, it was the fact that he had made his possessions his idols. The Bible says the love of money is the root of all kinds of evil (1Timothy 6:10) it has caused many to stray from the faith. The Bible also teaches that we can't serve two masters (Matthew 6:24). Unfortunately for the young man and many others we have chosen to serve the masters of this world over Jesus. He asks us to give some things up, but He knows it's worth it for us to spend eternity with Him. What are you willing to give up to follow Jesus?

In Him, Todd

LADS2LEADERS

PARENTS,

We will have a quick meeting this Sunday (February 7) immediately following worship services in the Common's Area Classroom. We will discuss various events including

Speech and Song Leading/Songs of Praise. Also, we need a final count as to who is attending convention, which nights you want to stay in the hotel, and what type room you need. We must know who is participating here (but not going) and what events you are entering/which adults are willing to judge computer submitted events. T-shirts must be ordered (and paid) with registration which must be finalized by February 15. L2L has extended deadlines (with no changes), so you can see the importance of submitting correct information to make final arrangements. Thank you. Tony, Mark & Tim
